Zach Rice Attracts Strong Support at County Event

HENDRICKS COUNTY, IN – Zach Rice’s message for a common sense, people focused, and innovative leadership approach in the Indiana General Assembly drew more than 30 vocal supporters for his campaign at the 2008 Hendricks County Lincoln Day Dinner; only four days after filing his candidacy for HR District 40.

“Tonight was a clear indication that Hoosiers are tired of business as usual,” said Mr. Rice. “I was excited and humbled to see the enthusiasm for a campaign to reduce the size of our government and lower our taxes.”

Abdul Hakim-Shabazz, host of Abdul in the Morning, a weekday radio talk show on NewsTalk 1430 AM WXNT that airs from 6:00 a.m. to 10:00 a.m., was the keynote speaker at the event. Mr. Shabazz noted, “We will not ever get true tax relief unless the government spends less money.”

“I hope his statements resonated with the Republican attendees here tonight,” asserted Mr. Rice. “The people of District 40 want true tax relief, not another tax shift. The best approach is to reduce the layers of government and streamline the processes, which in return will lower taxes for everyone.”
